

THE 20TH ANNUAL BYBERG PREACHING WORKSHOP

This year we continue Jonas Byberg's vision for events open to the whole Pacific Northwest Region - a time for renewal, reflection, and reconnection to the Byberg community.

Our Presenter

Craig Satterlee is professor at the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago, where he holds the Axel Jacob and Gerda Maria (Swanson) Carlson Chair in Homiletics. He is also Dean of the ACTS Doctor of Ministry in Preaching Program and adjunct professor of theology at the University of Notre Dame.

Professor Satterlee received a B.A. from the University of Michigan, M.Div. and S.T.M. (pastoral care) from Trinity Lutheran Seminary, Columbus, Ohio, and M.A. and Ph.D. in homiletics and liturgical studies from the University of Notre Dame.

Professor Satterlee is described as belonging "to the relatively small group of working homiletics whose work can justifiably be said to have changed the agenda of the discipline." His books are described as "superb examples of practical theology, remaining fully theological while engaging on-the-ground realities in the life of the church."

Ordained in 1987, Pastor Satterlee served congregations in Upstate New York and Michigan before being called to LSTC. He regularly leads continuing education events throughout the church.

As a person who is legally blind, Dr. Satterlee has a passion for ministry with persons with disabilities and a unique perspective on the Christian faith, church, and world. Craig and his family make their home in Chicago's Hyde Park.

When the Preacher is the Sermon

All preachers know that the primary tools we bring to our preaching are ourselves—our personality, experience, understanding, insight, theological perspective, and agenda.

Sometimes, we help our preaching; other times, we get in the way. At some level, more than what we say, we are the sermon.

This year's workshop considers (1) the preacher as "clay jar" (2 Cor. 4:7) of the Gospel; (2) how our understanding of what a sermon is shapes preaching; (3) our relationship to our hearers, since, in Fred Craddock's words, the preacher "works within an unusual network of trust and intimacy that makes the separation of character from performance impossible" so that "all preaching is to some extent self-disclosure by the preacher" (Craddock, Preaching, p. 23); and (4) the assumptions we bring to the pulpit.

We round out our time together with worship and peer reviewed sermons.

Our Chaplain

Susan Briehl, a Lutheran pastor, has served in team ministries as director of Holden Village, campus pastor at Pacific Lutheran University, and pastor of Our Saviour's Lutheran in Bellingham, WA. Currently she is a member of the Indiana-Kentucky Synod (ELCA), called to her work with the Valparaiso Project on the Education and Formation of People of Faith. Her recent publications include On Our Way: Christian Practices for Living a Whole Life, a book for emerging adults edited with Dorothy Bass (Upper Room, 2010), Holden Prayer Around the Cross, with Tom Witt (Augsburg, 2009) and "To Christ Belong," a hymn text. Susan lives in Spokane with her husband, Martin Wells. They have two daughters.

About The Byberg Preaching Workshop

Our founder was inventor and farm machinery manufacturer Jonas J. Byberg of Immanuel, Silverton, Oregon, who bequeathed property to the American Lutheran Church to establish the Byberg Homiletics Fund. He directed that income from the Fund be used to develop the skills of Lutheran preachers in the Pacific Northwest. The Fund has subsidized annual workshops since 1992. With expenses on the rise, additional contributions to the Fund are encouraged.
